Within a culture of support and collaboration, Morristown-Beard School students discover and develop their individual pathways to academic success and personal fulfillment while becoming enlightened, morally responsible citizens of the world.

The School Community

Morristown-Beard is an independent, coeducational day school serving students from over 80 communities and nine counties in northern New Jersey. There are 593 students in grades 6-12, with an Upper School enrollment of 442 . There are 103 faculty members, of whom $66 \%$ hold advanced degrees, of which 23 are doctoral. The School is accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools and the New Jersey Association of Independent Schools and is approved by the New Jersey State Department of Education.

Curricular Philosophy

MBS has fully embraced the "new" or "21st Century" paradigm for secondary education, as articulated by such thinkers and researchers as the late Grant Wiggins, Sir Ken Robinson, Tony Wagner, and many others. Despite the challenges this new model poses to many traditional secondary school assumptions and practices, its focus on skills over content, on critical and creative thinking over mere absorption of information, on critical reading and writing in all disciplines, and above all its foundation in a "growth" as opposed to "fixed" mindset, is supported by a wave of cognitive research and emerging best practices. Our academic program has been steadily evolving for the past decade along these lines, and we are justly proud of the progress we have made in preparing our graduates to succeed in higher education and in the social landscape of the future, both of which are themselves in the midst of complex, rapidly evolving change. Our students, therefore, need to be understood and assessed in the light of these principles, as outlined in our Statement of Curricular Philosophy:

The Morristown-Beard curriculum emphasizes critical thinking, problem solving, independent thought, and intellectual risk taking. It supports cross-disciplinary connections and a holistic view of knowledge. It encourages integration of habits of intentional speaking and writing so that students may develop and articulate their ideas. The curriculum is process-oriented, and teachers' assessment of student work reflects the means by which a student creates and learns in addition to final product. The curriculum at Morristown-Beard esteems the qualitative as well as quantitative dimensions of learning and supports students' making connections to other areas of intellectual thought and the larger world.

Signature Programs

Advanced Seminar/Advanced Studies Program

In an effort to provide a rigorous alternative to the standardized curriculum and testing of AP courses, the Upper School offers a suite of Advanced courses for seniors and selected juniors that equal or exceed AP courses in terms of conceptual challenge, complexity of material, development of critical skills and overall preparation for college academics. They are therefore the most academically rigorous courses we offer. These courses, which are either one semester (Advanced Seminar courses) or full year (Advanced Studies courses), are proposed by faculty with a particular interest and expertise in a given field and are subject to a thorough peer-review process, overseen by a committee of experienced teachers with college teaching backgrounds. These advanced courses foreground critical thought and discussion, require students to work independently and are flexible enough to encompass a broad range of course themes. In all Advanced courses, the level of reading, writing and discussion equals that found in a first-year college course. Both Advanced Seminar and Advanced Studies courses are designated with the prefix "AS," indicating a level of rigor comparable to or exceeding AP courses.

Earned Honors Model

In keeping with the idea of a growth mindset and the awareness, definitively established by research, that intelligence is not fixed but capable of continuous growth in the proper learning contexts, we have created an "Earned Honors" model in many classes whereby students are not pre-slotted as "honors" or "regular" but are placed in heterogeneous classes and given the opportunity to earn honors on the basis of the work they produce. The honors distinction is not based on quantitative factors (i.e. "more work"), but is measured by the qualitative rigor and analytical depth of the tasks undertaken to earn honors.

Integrated Math Curriculum

Starting in the fall of 2016 and phasing in sequentially, the Integrated Math Program consists of three full year courses: Integrated Math 1, 2 and 3. Combining both traditional and contemporary approaches and content, this structure represents an evolution in math curriculum design and allows students a much greater opportunity for growth and development in mathematical thinking. While the program covers all of the traditional areas (Algebra 1, Geometry, Algebra 2 and Pre-Calculus), Integrated Math blends these different strands of mathematics through each of its three levels and focuses on connections among formerly isolated topics such as algebra, geometry and trigonometry. This approach reveals a more organic picture of the field of mathematics and fosters deeper insight into its intricacies and beauty. Upon completion of Integrated Math 3, students typically advance to either Functions Analysis and Trigonometry or Mathematical Analysis Honors.

World Language Mastery Curriculum

The World Language department is in the midst of transitioning from atraditional curriculum that offers numbered courses to a Mastery Curriculum. The Mastery Curriculum in French, Latin and Spanish is designed to allow students to move forward through language at a pace that provides them opportunities for success. The courses are defined by performance objectives rather than time spent learning the language. These performance objectives provide information for students about what they must consistently demonstrate to reach a particular level, putting them in control of their own progress. Students can move through the sequence at a pace that fits their language development, advancing past levels if they demonstrate competence in the relevant benchmarks. Students who demonstrate extraordinary achievement in their language studies advance to the Experienced level and either AP or Advanced Studies courses. At the Intermediate and Experienced levels, thematic courses (e.g. Spanish Through Music and Film, French Cinema) are offered.

Curriculum Notes

Advanced Placement Program
Students must fulfill required prerequisites and have departmental approval in order to enroll in any of the 12 AP courses offered. With the exception of those taking Chemistry and United States History, the majority enrolled in AP classes are seniors. In addition to courses offered, recommended juniors may also sit for the English Language and Composition exam.

Independent Study

Our Independent Study program encourages students to explore areas of interest that fall outside the traditional course catalog. Under the guidance of selected faculty members with a special expertise or interest in the field, students work side by side to develop a scope and sequence curriculum, create authentic class specific content and create original assessments. Independent Studies are ideal for motivated, high-achieving students. Current topics include: Acting Technique, Aquaponic Systems, Biokinetics, Coral Reef Ecosystems, Cosmetic

Chemistry, Deductive Logic: Applications and Limitations, Financial Modeling, Motion Graphics and Media Authoring, Plot Driven Comedy, and Yemen's Civil War.

Graduation Requirements

The academic year is divided into two semesters during which a minimum academic load is six courses. While a total of 24 credits is required for graduation, we encourage students to pursue their academic interests by going beyond the minimum requirements of:

| English | 4 years  Mathematics |
| ---: | :--- |
| 3 years |  |
| History | 3 years |
| Science | 3 years |
| World Language | 3 years |
